SUBJECT OF BRIEFING: Middle East Terrorists Operating along Arizona Southern Border

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE:

The purpose of this briefing paper is deliberately intended to stimulate thought and discussion. Informational analysis comprising national security of the United States of America, economic forces as a dimension to national security, culture, Freedom in human rights, defense, and the rule of law are considered within the framework of this treatise. The content of this briefing is also intended to sound the trumpet of warning to the church at-large of the coming assault, and to prepare God's people for the same in accordance with Ezekiel 33:7-9.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY:

The southern border of Arizona remains unsecure with a growing threat from those who detest America in every way and intend to destroy our country. This threat is not simply Mexican drug dealers; although, they are posing an ever increasing and violent presence as they move into Arizona, and then launch their activities throughout America (257-known cities). A more ominous threat of the unsecure southern border into the United States of America is the increased activity of Middle Eastern terrorists. Since Oct, 2003, Border Patrol agents in the Tucson, AZ sector apprehended 5,510 illegal's from countries other than Mexico, Central or South America.

In this Tucson sector, over 3,000 illegal's were Middle Eastern and spoke Farsi or Arabic. A large number of these that were apprehended escaped capture and disappeared into the United States.

The Arizona desert is littered with evidence of illegal's coming from countries that are violently opposed to and stated enemies of America; especially countries like: Venezuela, Iran, Iraq, Syria, Pakistan, Libya, Somalia, and the spreading al-Qaeda, Hamas, and Hezbollah. Further evidence demonstrates the growing relationship and cooperation by these terrorist groups and drug cartels, as well as criminal gangs like MS-13. Much of this activity stems from miles of open borders in Arizona, and the fierce open miles of desert unique to southern Arizona. One cannot fully appreciate, much less understand, the rough and unforgiving regions of desert unless you actually have been there – pictures alone will not suffice. Cartels and gangs have taken up residence on multiple pathways, created desert roadways, mountains and command activity within their dedicated region or sector. With military grade weapons, satellite communications, high powered vision aide, these scouts and small pockets of “soldiers” are becoming increasingly formidable. This aids in the movement of small groups of suspected terrorists through the desert deep into Arizona, and then to a final destination.

FOR YOUR ANALYSIS AND CONSIDERATION:

- 1. The U.S. Congress Committee on Foreign Affairs received testimony on February 2nd, 2012, that demonstrated Iran's growing influence along the U.S. Border south of Arizona. Michael Braun, a former chief of operations for DEA testified that Hezbollah has developed strong and sophisticated relationships with Mexican drug cartels. One dimension to this relationship is the control of the southern Border of Arizona, then corridors into every region of America.*
- 2. There is growing “chatter” that Iran will strike the United States from within if Iran's nuclear program is attacked. Once again, the southern Border of Arizona comes into focus, as a significant corridor for assets hostile to America to travel.*
- 3. Besides Iran and Hezbollah, South American satellite terrorist-sponsoring nations like Cuba, Venezuela, Ecuador, Nicaragua are assisting with: the massing and training of terrorists, weapons (including medium-range missiles), logistics and other support. Latin America is quickly becoming a platform from which an attack against the United States can be launched. This includes moving aforesaid terrorist groups, with cooperation from Mexican drug cartels, right up to the border south of Arizona and into Arizona.*

4. Back in 2005, a captured ranking al-Qaeda agent revealed the plan to move nuclear materials from South America through the border and into America for attacks at a later date. Adnan ash-Shukrijumah, one of the world's most wanted terrorists, it was learned, was chosen by bin Laden to serve as the field commander for the terrorist attack on U.S. soil. The code name: "The American Hiroshima" plan was affixed. This plan purportedly is to launch simultaneous explosions on American cities. American law enforcement agencies are seriously looking for Adnan ash-Shukrijumah, since 2005. The latest "FBI Most Wanted" reports (1/19/2012) indicate that Shukrijumah is still at large.

5. The Federal Government is proclaiming how border apprehensions are down 40%! What is not being shared with the public is the fact that Fed policy is to only count selected groups and allow others to go free or to turn south back to Mexico counting neither category!

PERSONAL COMMENT:

This briefing gave a quick over-view of just one segment of the multifaceted problem associated with the Arizona Border Wars. Although short the contents should be alarming speaking to the sophisticated and dedicated forces accumulating along Arizona's Border. The Federal Government knows all of this, and more! The general public does not. The Federal Government is quite aware the border (both southern and along Canada) is porous in many ways, and truly undesirables are streaming across. This briefing is NOT about the migrant looking for seasonal work, but about the hardened criminal, the dedicated terrorist whose plans are to destroy the United States of America in any manner possible. Arizona is "Ground Zero" for this fight, as well as against anyone who dares stand for a closed and secure border. Tremendous amounts of political money ($72-million) are dedicated to "win" Arizona away from those who are not open border advocates. The few Arizona elected officials now attempting to secure our border, and hence, help secure America, are under phenomenal attacks – even from those who claim to be conservative and national security minded!

Adding Intel addressing conventional criminal activity, as well as radical plans to retake Arizona as part of the La Raza movement would fill more pages. To be sure very sobering criminal activities have moved well into Arizona, 75-miles north of the Mexican border; criminal activities more familiar with Mexico than the tourist centers that make Arizona such a unique tourist and relaxing destination many across America have known. Law enforcement is holding their own but with limited budgets and man power, and with no stemming the tide of illegal's coming north into Arizona (then spreading throughout America), it is only a matter of time the battles so familiar to those living in Mexico become similar sites in Arizona.

The Langley Intelligence Network, which is made up of former CIA analysts and officials, reported since 2009, their fears of Mexico becoming a "failed state"! Since their initial reports, conditions have grown remarkably worse. There are credible reasons to believe the country of Mexico could fall totally into the hands of the drug cartels with even greater warfare opening and spreading across the border. There are credible reasons to believe if this occurs a mass exodus could begin with hundreds of thousands of Mexicans heading north into America to escape. Arizona is right in the middle of a proposed pathway. I do not believe Arizona (or any border state for that matter) has the resources to absorb such a flood.
